Preliminary Study Plan Required for Overseas Exchanges and Study Abroad

At the University of Siegen exchange students are free to register for courses offered by any faculty or our language center. However, not all courses are offered in English. Before you apply for a student exchange in Siegen, please check last year's course offerings for the relevant semester on unisono and search for study programs or courses that correspond to your study program at your home university. Choose courses offered in the relevant language of instruction and document the course information in the preliminary study plan below. Make sure to add the course unit code and title as well as the semester of exchange (semester 1: winter semester; semester 2: summer semester). You find further information in our study guide.
