I have not finished my degree yet and will have transcripts of my last term after the deadline to apply is over, can I apply?

You can only apply with your final bachelor's degree certificate.

I have not yet received my final degree certificate.

You can only apply with your final bachelor's degree certificate.

I don't have any Germany language certificate.

The language of instruction is English. There is no need for German language skills. The university webpage mentions "English/German", because some few elective courses are taught in German. However, there is a wide range of courses available that are taught in English.

My language certificate expired, can I still use it for applications process?

You need a valid language certificate the latest when you apply for admission.

Note, If your language certificate is expired, no letter will be issued for the embassy to accept the expired certificate or exempt the requirement.

Can the language certificate requirement be exempted as my previous education was in English?

Confirmations regarding the language of instruction in the bachelor's program will not be accepted.
