The annual reception for international PhD students and their supervisors, supported by a grant from the German Academic Exchange Service (DAAD) with funds from the Federal Foreign Office (AA), takes place for the fourth year running. The meeting is intended as an informal get-together across all faculties, departments, seminars, institutes and chairs, to help everyone, newly arrived or not, to enlarge their network at the university.

A representative of the newly constituted University rectorate will open the reception with a short address. After that Dr. Nina Fenn, head of the Welcome Center at the International Office, and Dr. Daniel Müller, head of the House of Young Talents, will present services and field questions regarding support for international researchers. After these short interactive remarks, the buffet area will be open for the actual get-together. We're looking forward to meeting you!

Note that the reception is immediately preceded by a workshop (in the same room) introducing newcomers to the German academic system, so it might make sense to combine both events.
