

Guest Lecture

Prof. Victor Morris Udwin

(The University of Tulsa, OK, USA):

"How Sophocles Taught Freud Psychology: Revisiting Oedipus Rex"

Monday, May 13, 2024

6 p.m.

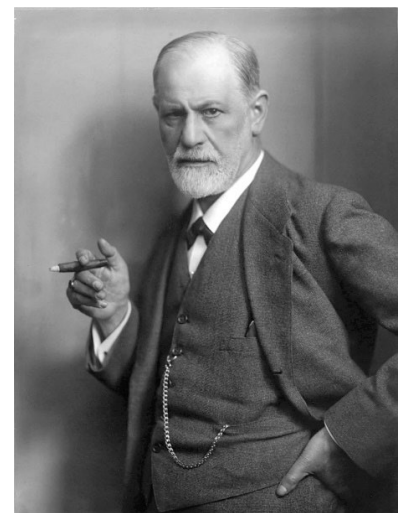

Room US-C 109

Organizer:

Dr. Marcel Hartwig

Sophocles

Sigmund Freud (© Max Halberstadt)

Prof. Victor Morris Udwin (© TU Faculty)

Victor Udwin, associate professor of German and Comparative Literature, has a passion for ancient texts, which he teaches in a variety of courses. His research focuses on developing and demonstrating a new technique for literary and film study, which he also teaches in many of his courses, including Gangster Films. His work of the past two decades focuses on reconstructing a heretofore unrecognized argument in Sophocles' Oedipus Tyrannus.